§ 1

1. The organizer of the contest is Hugo Kołłątaj High School No 6 in Lublin, Poland.
2. The co-organizer of the contest is Hieronim Łopaciński Provincial Public Library in Lublin, Poland.

§ 2

1. The aim of the competition is:
 - 1) shaping sensitivity to diversity,
 - 2) promoting social inclusion;
 - 3) promoting equality;
 - 4) promoting empathy and respect for other people, regardless of their background, abilities, religious beliefs or any other characteristics that may distinguish them;
 - 5) introducing the achievements of Polish representatives of the world of art, science, culture, politics and social life to Polish and foreign students,
 - 6) promoting reading;
 - 7) igniting imagination;
 - 8) developing creativity;
 - 9) developing critical thinking skills;
 - 10) developing interests and talents in the field of art and literary forms;
 - 11) shaping sensitivity to the written word;
 - 12) developing language skills, reading comprehension and reading interpretation;
 - 13) developing key competences, in particular cultural awareness and expression;
 - 14) educating to values by shaping civic and patriotic attitudes;
 - 15) developing digital competences.
2. The rules of the contest are available on the school website: www.lo6.lublin.eu.
3. For any additional information write to Anna Zagórna-Bartnik at anna.zagorna-bartnik@lo6.lublin.eu.
4. Organizational team of the Contest: Anna Zagórna-Bartnik, Małgorzata Łukasiewicz, VI LO.

§ 3

1. The Contest is addressed to students born between 2004 and 2010.
2. Contestants are to send previously unpublished works inspired by the theme of socio-cultural diversity and inclusivity.

The works may be inspired by the life, works, and public activity of specific representatives of the world of science, art, culture, and politics who have dealt with misunderstanding/exclusion in their lives due to their differences.

3. The motto of the Contest is a quotation from Tiziano Terzani's Letters Against the War: "Only if we manage to see the universe as a single entity, in which every part reflects the whole and whose great beauty lies precisely in its variety, will we be able to understand exactly who and where we are".
4. The competition is divided into the following categories:
 - 1) artistic – work (drawing, painting, photography) depicting a unique perspective on integration, understanding, acceptance, and the beauty of diversity as well as the inclusion of different environments, cultures, or identities.
 - 2) literary – a prose or poetic form on one of the following topics:
 - I. Bring together characters from different time periods and connect them in a common narrative. Show how historical or fictional characters would interact with and learn from each other in a world that values inclusivity.
 - II. Write a story that connects characters from different cultures, environments backgrounds, or worlds. Show the beauty of unity amidst diversity through interactions and relationships between these characters.
 - III. Draw inspiration from a well-known narrative and rewrite it from the perspective of a character who is often overlooked or marginalized. Show how their unique point of view adds depth and richness to the entire story.
 - IV. Share a personal story or reflection about a moment in your life when accepting differences played a significant role. Connect your experiences with the broader topic of inclusivity.
 - V. Build a story around a symbolic object that represents inclusivity. Explore how this item, whether magical or ordinary, has the power to bring people together and bridge the gaps between different individuals.
5. One student can choose either the artistic or the literary category
6. In the artistic category of the Contest, artworks created using any technique can be submitted. The illustration should be accompanied by a brief description stating the source of inspiration.
7. In the literary category:
